Ask Cleaning By Lemonters

By JOSEPH SEVICK

LEMONT -- Village trustees decided Monday night to prod Lemonters to clean-up for springtime and the good of the village.

The irksome issue of a new parking ordinance was also worked out. The preliminary plat for Rosehill subdivision, located east of State St. south of Freehauf St. was also approved at the Monday night trustees' meeting.

Complaints from persons living west of the Lemont Plaza opened the way to a larger discussion of dirt and debris throughout the village.

Residents near the shopping center, said Mayor John Kujawa, have complained about rats, garbage burning and dumping. Kujawa said he talked with store operators, and reported they promised to improve conditions.

Frank Sowa, chief of police, said he and Dr. Barry Ladd inspected a three-unit apartment and a lot to the north of the center. Both require improvements, and the owners will be prosecuted in 30 days if they don't clean-up, said Sowa.

Kujawa reported he inspected alleys in the village and, "What I've seen, I don't like." He decried leaf burning and use of garbage cans larger than the legal 30 gallon size. Kujawa also rapped garbage dumping in the I & M Canal and unsightly auto parking.

Kujawa directed trustee Art Nagel to work with shopping center operators to bring compliance with village ordinances. The trustees also agreed to send an appeal for a clean-up with the next water bills. The trustees will first draw up a letter pointing out the need for action, and the ordinances requirements.

Trustees approved a draft of a new parking ordinance to replace the one enacted in November. That ordinance brought objections from pick-up truck owners.

The official vote on the revision is expected at the Apr. 13 meeting.

The new ordinance calls for no parking from 3 a.m. to 6 a.m. any day of any vehicle anywhere on Main and Canal streets, and on Stephen from Illinois St. to the north village limit, and on Illinois St. between State and Stephen streets.

There would be no parking of any commercial vehicle from 3 a.m. to 6 a.m. on any day on any street. Exempted would be recreational vehicles and pick-up trucks not used commercially.

Teachers Confront 205 Board

By MARGE RATCLIFFE

LOCKPORT -- Phil Polley, the chairman of the welfare committee of the Lockport Teacher's Organization, urged the LTO, assembled for an emergency meeting Thursday night, "to take a stand in favor of education."

"We want an educational system that teaches kids," Polley said. "If we don't speak out, the public has every right to believe the (board's) plans are feasible. We owe this to the public."

The meeting was called, according to Polley and Leonard Moore, president of the LTO, because of rumored proposed cuts in the teaching staff, some of the programs, and the fact that "there is an amazing amount of misinformation around us."

Moore said, "The teachers feel the buck is being passed back and forth here. Where does education fit into all this?"

Polley invited the board members and the administration, who were meeting in another part of the building, to sit in on the LTO meeting and hear the group's prepared statement. Board members in attendance were William Brill, president; Thomas Wilson, Steve Platko, Joan Straka, and William Waldon.

Polley began by stating, "The teachers in District 205 refuse to be a party to the destruction of education in this district. The board has, without proper reason, delayed announcing specific plans, but all of what they have revealed is educationally disastrous."

Polley added that the teachers cannot support measures which will make it harder for graduates to find jobs, or enter vocational or technical schools, or be accepted by colleges; abandon students who need special help; destroy effective education by crowding too many students into classes; and other objections, among them the risk of the district losing accreditation.

He concluded by saying, "The students have the right to be educated, not just kept off the streets. They have the right to a 'real' education. We teachers have a responsibility to provide decent education. The students and community deserve no less."

Brill then addressed the group stating it should be understood at the outset that it was not an official board meeting. He said the board has stated on many occasions that the school is really run by the taxpayers and that the quality of educa-

Pupils' Complaint Produces Answers

MOKENA -- Seventh grade pupils who wrote Mayor Will Tuttle and officials of the Mokena Wall Paper Co., asking that something be done about pollution brought about by smoke from the mill's chimney, have received answers from both. The letters from the school contained 58 signatures.

"I have received your letter," Mayor Tuttle's reply reads in part, "which seeks an abatement of the smoke pollution that emits periodically from the wall paper mill's smoke-stack. While we have been aware of this nuisance, it often takes just such an inquiry from interested citizens to bring the elected officials out of their lethargy and awaken them once again to their responsibility to their constituents, who are dependent upon them to see that air pollution is controlled.

"... Immediate contact will be made with the wall paper mill officials, to see what steps can be taken.

"I would like to personally congratulate you for taking an active interest in community affairs. Your method of contacting officials in an orderly manner will have far better results than all of the violent demonstrations of 'protest' now in vogue by many young people. A Youth Commission for the Mokena area is now being formed and it is hoped that all problems and ideas of young people can be brought to the attention of this group.

"... Thank you for writing and will further advise you of any developments on this matter."

The letter from the wall paper company, signed by William J. Rourke, head of the firm, follows:

"We are also concerned about air pollution as well as everyone else in this country.

"We have taken some steps already to reduce the smoke coming from our smoke stack. These steps have reduced the smoke compared to a few years back. However, we realize that we have to do more. We have talked to people about our problem, and we hope that sometime in the future we will be able to almost eliminate the smoke from our plant."

Annex 2 Properties On U.S.45

By GLENN LOGAN

FRANKFORT -- Between discussion of the proposed Arquilla Corporation industrial complex and the budget, the village board found opportunity to annex a couple of tracts on U.S. 45 north of town, plus talk about extension of the sanitary sewer system and the possibility of repairing the old water tower and possibly erecting a new one.

It also confirmed appointment of Allan L. Mager, of 7 LaPorte Rd., to the village board to succeed Howard Woodman, who has resigned his work is taking him to a different part of the state. Mager, was appointed by Mayor Glenn Warning, with the trustees unanimously concurring.

Mager, who is employed by Alberto-Culver Co., was recently promoted to director of products for the international division of the company. A graduate of Case Institute of Technology, he has been with the cosmetic firm since 1964 and until his promotion was group product manager.

Another appointment confirmed by the board was that of Dan Kreml, of Standard Industrial Compound Co., as chairman of the Frankfort Industrial Commission. Added to the committee was Fred O. Gibertini, owner and operator of a machine shop.

Annexed to the village were two pieces of property running to more than 10 acres owned by Harry T. Gansel and Mrs. Gansel. They were taken in with the provision that should he be unable to get the zoning classification he now has from the county, that the annexation would be rescinded.

One tract on which the Fireplace Shop and Alsip Nursery have retail outlets is zoned as B-1. It has 600 feet of frontage on U.S. 45 and runs back 800 feet.

The other piece immediately south has 200 feet on U.S. 45 and runs back approximately 400 feet. Gansel seeks to have this classified as B-2, as he has plans for a restaurant there and would want a license which would

Arquilla Is Hunting New Sites

By GLENN LOGAN

FRANKFORT -- With Frankfort out of the picture as far as the Arquilla Corporation industrial complex is concerned, other communities in the area are marshalling their forces in an endeavor to attract them.

The proposed industrial project represents a lot of tax revenue, according to those familiar with the reputation of the firms involved, and there are taxing bodies that would like to have a slice of it.

According to Village Attorney August Santoro, former assessor of Frankfort Township, if the market value of the improvements proposed came to $1-million (and he thought that was on the low side) the assessed valuation, not including the multiplier, would run to $550,000.

Based on that figure, Santoro told the Frankfort zoning board of appeals last Wednesday night, the corporation's 1969 tax bill would have been $31,555.35 and the village tax rate of .784 would have brought into the village treasury $4,317.50, or $459.70 a month.

The Frankfort park district (rate .087) would have received $478.50; Lincoln-Way High School (rate $1.94) $10,670, and the Frankfort Grade School district (rate $1.802) $9,911.

George Arquilla Jr. testified that the gross sales of the various firms would run to $11-million, or more a year. Based on this representation, Santoro said, the Village of Frankfort would realize $110,000 a year on sales tax.

With other sales tax money the village takes in it could eliminate its real estate levy and still have a larger revenue than it has now, Santoro said. If the village did not levy a real estate tax, Santoro said, a persons whose home has a fair market of $10,000 would save $43.12 a year; if it was a $20,000 house, the saving would be $86.24 and for a $30,000 home, $129.36 a year.

Santoro pointed out that a new water storage tank that will meet state requirements must be purchased by the village and it was estimated the cost would be about $150,000 and that other needs and expenses in operating the village will be costing more money.

"Without Arquilla," he said, "it will probably mean more real estate taxes."

Schools and village and all other taxing bodies will be losing revenue from personal property taxes next year when they are abolished. The village can make up its loss from the state income tax but not the others, it was pointed out.

The property involved, 40 acres, lies on the east side of U.S. 45 south of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway tracks. It is owned by the "J" and is under option to Arquilla Corporation. It is zoned for light industry but the petitioners for re-zoning asked that it be classified for special use. Under county zoning it was classified for heavy industry.

The firms to be established there were Bell Lumber, Best Homes, Best Brick, a wood working mill, the Accurate Redi-Mix concrete company, Lincoln Paving, operating an asphalt plant, and a general store handling building materials and supplies. Arquilla said approximately 125 persons would be employed with a payroll of more than a million dollars a year.

The asphalt plant has been picked on as the target for most of objections. Objectors fear that it would give off odors and pollute the air with vast clouds of dust.

Joseph Wright Jr., an attorney for the E. J. & E. called Wirt Farley Sr., a mechanical engineer and graduate of Purdue, who specializes in building and equipping asphalt plants.

He testified (all witnesses were placed under oath) that the plant to be erected here would be equipped with a "forest of bags, 11 1/2 inches in diameter, 20 feet long, and open at one end." Bag-housing, the system is called. It removes dust, which is reclaimed in the process, and the emission of particles is held to between four and five pounds an hour.

"You can't see anything coming out of a stack" he said, and displayed pictures as proof of his point.

The only odor would come when the material was being loaded and it wouldn't be noticeable outside of the plant, Farley said.

Arquilla said that as a rule an asphalt plant operates from about May 1 to mid-October or the first of November, depending on the temperature in the fall.

He said that the company was prepared to keep dust down from truck movements by sprinkling, and said the only time any of their trucks might be in the village would be to make a delivery. Otherwise the truck movement would be confined to U.S. 45 and U.S. 30, he said.

Bert Breidert, chairman of the Frankfort plan commission, read a statement which had been filed with the village board last week and was dated Feb. 18. Four members of the commission were present when the report was made, Breidert said, in response to a question by Attorney Wright.

The gist of the report was that the proposed industrial complex was not suited for Frankfort, and the ill effects would outweigh any financial benefits the project might bring.

The Connecticut Hills Homeowners Association, represented by its president, W.J. Bachochin was opposed to granting the petition. There are 180 members in the association and a poll was taken of 176 members. Eighty per cent were against the complex, Bachochin reported.

Dr. Irving Rudman, representing the village library board, filed a statement opposing the petition, and Mary Glantz filed a petition that she said she filled out by telephoning people and asking whether they were for or against the industrial complex.

She said that 129 voiced objections. Also speaking against the proposal was the newly-appointed village board member, Allan Mager, who said that a friend of his had visited an asphalt plant and found it objectionable.

Primary Winners Take Stock Of Adversaries

IN WILL COUNTY

WILL COUNTY -- With the primaries over the successful candidates will have a long time to pursue their hunt for votes. Here it is March 25 and the election is not until the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The actual date will be Nov. 3.

"Anyone who starts campaigning now," remarked a political observer, "must have a long pocketbook and strong vocal cords or he will be out of money and his voice by the time fall gets here."

Some years ago primaries were held in September. That was when the primary election law was new. Then someone wanted more time or had some reason which he figured would be beneficial if the time between elections was spread out a bit. Then the primaries were pushed back to April.

Then a few years ago someone suggested that if the primary was held in June the successful candidates would not have to spend as much time or money campaigning and so the primaries were pushed over to June. The last session of the legislature decided on another change. It pushed the primary back into March so the boys have a long haul ahead of them.

There was some talk at the time that the reason for the switch was that they might get around to voting on the state's new constitution in June and they didn't want to confuse the voters, figuring that many might not know the difference between a candidate and a constitution since both start with the same letter.

Whatever the reason, the primary was held on St. Patrick's Day, which made it necessary for the Chicago politicians to hold the St. Patrick parade on the preceding Sunday. After all, they would have to be free to man the polls come Tuesday, March 17.

Whether more people turned out for the parade-marchers and watchers--than for the election has not been mentioned in the public prints but the turnout for the primary was small.

In Will County, for example, where both Democrats and Republicans had contests for sheriff, and the Republicans a contest for county treasurer, a scant 18 per cent of the 115,000 registered voters turned out.

The Republicans cast 12,300 votes and the Democrats 8,490.

Come November and Earl Cantone, a former state trooper who lives in the Peotone area, will be the Republican banner bearer in the race for sheriff against Joseph Trizna, the Democrat.

Cantone was the choice of the Republican Central Committee but despite the endorsement Wayne Thornberg, now a bank security guard and a former deputy sheriff and Joliet city fireman, elected to try his wings but fell short by 2,901 votes. Cantone polled 6,983 votes to 4,082 for Thornberg.

The County Central Committee endorsed Ned Grabavoy, a former Joliet councilman and owner of a string of bake shops, but he lost to Joseph Trizna, a former sheriff and former Joliet police chief, by 459 votes. Trizna had a total of 4,197 votes and Grabavoy, 3,738. Twice during the count the pair were only two votes apart. Trizna was elected sheriff in 1962 on the Democratic ticket. He wanted to run then as a Republican but the central committee wouldn't endorse him. The Demos did and he was the winner. His opponent was Roy Doerfler, a former sheriff.

This year the Republicans were going to endorse Trizna and run him on their ticket only to discover that because the primary date had been moved up almost three months he was still a registered Democrat.

Whether Trizna can break the jinx that has been on former sheriffs will be decided in November. Will County has never had a sheriff serve a second term, altho several have tried it. Another odd thing about the office is that no one who has ever been chief deputy has ever been elected sheriff, although that's been tried.

The Demos had but one contest on their county ticket. They nominated Joseph Danzero, an insurance man, to oppose Clara Hartley Woodard, veteran county clerk. Mrs. Woodard led the county ticket with 10,925 votes.

Danzero received 5,937.

Boyd Bucher (R) was nominated county superintendent of schools, polling 10,600 votes. His Democratic Opponent is an assistant principal at Joliet Central High School, Eric Matysiak and he received 5,859 votes.

The Republicans had three candidates running for the nomination for county treasurer and the winner was the party-endorsed entry, W.F. (Wally) Schuetz, chief deputy treasurer under Clarence Lipman and a former banker. He received 6,700 votes to beat out Herman Olivo, a druggist and assistant Joliet supervisor, who polled 3,471, and a Joseph Kochevar who got 1,083 votes.

Schuetz has Kent Bosworth as his opponent. Bosworth received 5,903 votes in the primary. Bosworth served served a term as Joliet town clerk on the Democratic ticket. The town board then would not have won any prizes for harmony and when the party came to choose candidates last year Bosworth was left off the ticket.

In the 41st general assembly district two incumbents were re-nominated, W. Robert Blair, (R) and John J. Houlihan (D). Three state representatives will be elected in the fall and there will be four candidates, the other two being George M. O'Brien, Joliet, Lawyer, and Leo J. Meehan, chairman of the Will County Democrat Central Committee. Blair received 17,020 1/2 and O'Brien, 14,067 1/2 on the Republican side. On the Democrat side Houlihan polled 15,582 1/2 and Meehan, 7,321 1/2.

IN COOK COUNTY

COOK COUNTY -- In Cook County and in the state-wide races in last Tuesday's (Mar. 17) primary election, things went as planned in the party races for spots on the ballot in November.

In the Democratic races, Adlai Stevenson III won the United States Senator nomination unopposed; Alan Dixon won state treasurer; Michael Bakalis won his party's nomination for superintendent of public instruction.

In the Democratic race for the nomination for representative in congress in the 4th District, was Francis Lynch, and for state senator in the 9th District was Emanuel Cannonito.

In the Democratic races for the representative in the general assembly in the 9th District, the winners were Gerald Brier and Leland Rayson, Unopposed.

For Democratic sanitary district trustee winners were Valentine Janicki, James C. Kirie and John W. Rogers. Other winners were P. J. Cullerton for Cook County assessor; Bernard J. Korzen for county treasurer; Edward J. Barrett for clerk of cook county; William Vernon for superintendent of educational service region; George M. Keane and Harry Semrow for members of the county board of appeals; George Dunne for president of the county board; for county commissioner, James Hiliard, Miles Krejci, Donald Norman, Milton Rakove and Patricia Siebert.

Winner on the Democratic side for township committeeman in Lemont was Clara Smollen. The Republican party winner was Arthur Nagel.

Other Republican winners were Ralph Smith for the United States Senate; Edmund Kucharski for state treasurer; Ray Page for superintendent of public instruction; Edward Derwinski for representative in congress in the 4th District; Charles Barr for state central committeeman in the 4th District; Terrel Clarke for state senator in the 9th District.

For representative in the general assembly in the 9th District were Republicans Don Moore and George Burditt.

Republican winners for sanitary district trustee were Theodore Allen, Harvey Schwartz and Louis Watson; for assessor, Benjamin Adamowski; for treasurer, James Peterson; for county clerk, Robert Atcher; for sheriff, Bernard Carey; for superintendent, educational service region, Robert P. Hanrahan; for county board of appeals, Peter Piotrowicz and Florence Dunbar.

Other Republican winners are Joseph Woods for president of the county board; for county commissioners, William Erickson, Floyd Fulle, Charles Chaplin, Charles Grupp Jr. and Joseph Woods.

Council Seeking A Plan To Ease Traffic Tie-Ups

By MARGE RATCLIFFE

LOCKPORT -- "What effect will the opening of the new high level bridge at Ninth Street have on the city of Lockport's traffic problems?"

Plenty, according to the local aldermen, Mayor George Nordstrom, and Gordon McCluskey, the city's director of Public Works. The intersection at the corner of Ninth and State has been discussed at many recent council meetings, and the March 16 meeting was no exception.

Several plans have been discussed, one of which involves grading and widening the old tow path on the west side of the I and M Canal, creating a "relief route" for traffic trying to avoid the intersection.

A plan to repair the road from Fifth St. to Eighth St., and Tenth to Division St., would probably cost about $10,000. Some members of the council feel there are other street problems which would come first in priority. Alderman Frank Meyers suggested that McCluskey set up a work sequence for the city streets.

Mayor Nordstrom feels that the city should "put every dime available into our streets. They're going to pot." The council seemed in general agreement that potholes are indeed getting the upper hand.

George Burnette, chairman of the Lockport Planning Commission, told the council that he doubted the repairs on the tow path could be done for $10,000 and that the council might be better off to keep that plan "in the back of their minds" after they see what real problems occur after the new bridge is opened. Nordstrom told him he would rather anticipate problems, rather than let them get ahead of him.

Alderman Dick Cronholm told the council that they definitely wouldn't be able to afford a traffic study if they spent all their money on streets. Cronholm feels they should go ahead with the study, and pointed out the city would possibly be eligible for a 50 per cent federal grant.

Le. Strahanoski commented that federal funding was "a big if." No decision was made, but the council did instruct McCluskey to get a firm price on repair work for the tow path.

In other business, the council:

- received for consideration a pre-annexation agreement for 71 acres located in Lockport and Homer, townships;

- allowed Mr. and Mrs. William O'Harra, 119 Market St., to tap-on to city water and sewer lines;

- discussed a proposed inventory of the contents of the City Hall, currently evaluated at $25,000;

- voted to pay membership dues of $300 to Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission;

- discussed an area transit system;
- heard a letter from Rev. Loren J. Hetrick, objecting to raising the number of liquor licenses from 17 to 19 (the council has not done this, but has been asked to consider it);

- discussed whether or not a person should be allowed to retain a liquor license when he has no place of business; on this item, the council decided that the licensee in question has until June 1, when his current license expires, to either open a new place of business or face the loss of his license.

N.L. PTO Is Urging Sidewalks

NEW LENOX -- For many years the PTO and school officials have been asking the village board to install sidewalks in the vicinity of the various schools so pupils will not have to walk in the streets.

Mrs. Wayne Towne, president of the New Lenox Parent Teacher Organization, appeared before the village board at its regular meeting last Wednesday night and renewed the request.

Board members were sympathetic and told Mrs. Towne that they are exploring the possibility of putting in safety walks. The village is planning a central water system and if concrete walks were put in prior to the water, walks would have to be cut up when the water service is laid on.

This would be a great expense, they said, which is why they are giving consideration to "safety walks."

The walks under discussion would be of blacktop with white lines painted at the sides. If concrete walks were put in later, it was said, these safety walks would make a good base.

Several years ago the village board conducted a survey to ascertain public sentiment on sidewalks. Return postcards were sent out to householders.

The gist of the returns was to the effect that while most of the people believed it would be nice to have sidewalks no one was interested in paying for them.

The householders directly involved didn't want to pay for walks and persons who did not live near the schools or the streets where the sidewalks were proposed to be laid did not want to pay for improvements in any other part of town.

The upshot was that the village officials of that day dropped the idea.

At another time another attempt was made to build sidewalks to accommodate school children, at St. Jude as well as the public schools but it hit the same snag -- who was going to pay the bill?

The property owner is the one that has to put in the walks, it was pointed out -- like a street -- but the municipality is held responsible for maintenance. That is why municipalities get sued and pay judgments when people prove that it was a break, a tilt or something wrong with the sidewalk that caused them to trip or fall, it was pointed out.

The question of establishing a mobile home park was not discussed. Only mention of the subject was when trustees made certain that the minutes were clear that their instructions to Village Attorney Wayne Johnson to confer with Attorney Harry Leinenweber relative as to the course the petitioners follow were not to be construed as having reached any decision in the matter.

Leinenweber represents Mr. and Mrs. O.C. Robbins who would establish a mobile home park on property owned by John Warren, which is now a part of the village.

The Robbins can either petition the zoning board, Leinenweber pointed out, and get a yes or no answer which would then to the village board for a final decision, or Warren could detach the property from the village and then enter into a pre-annexation agreement which would cover establishment of the mobile home park.

There would be a public hearing on the pre-annexation agreement and another on the zoning. The pre-annexation agreement would set out the details of how the proposed mobile home park could be operated.

In the event this second course is followed, Leinenweber said, Mr. and Mrs. Warren would sign an agreement to be placed in escrow that they would take the steps necessary to re-annex the property to the village in event the pre-annexation move failed to receive approval.

Permit fees for the new fire station and the sewer tap-on to serve it were waived by the village board. Work has started on the new station at Cedar Rd. and Maple Lane. This will give the fire protection district on both sides of the Rock Island tracks, described as a necessity in these days of long and frequent freight trains.

William Bolker's permit to erect a commercial building along Cedar Rd. where his apartments are, is held up pending a zoning hearing to alter the classification from B-1 to B-3. Fee for the sewer tap-on has not been set yet. In case of commercial buildings the board fixes the amount of the fee. The board also has a meeting coming up with Bolker relative to tap-on fees for apartments. The board thought this was all settled last year but apparently there are still some points at issue.

Request of Victoria Vietoris for release of a bond covering a sewer contract in Unit 3, Cherry Hill Estates, will not be granted, the board decided, until work on a certain manhole is completed to the board's satisfaction.

The New Lenox Grade School Dist. 122 has filed a request with the village board asking for a slice of the state income tax that comes to the village. The New Lenox Township Library Board also has a similar request on file, which was put in sometime ago.

Most of the villages in the area have been asked to share their share of the state income tax with other taxing bodies, all of which appear to be troubled with lack of revenue.

The municipalities also say they are in need of more money to meet expenses and while they do not give their fellow taxing bodies a brusque brush-off, all indications point to their holding on to whatever they can get out of the state.

Next year the personal property tax will be out and as a result the various taxing bodies, especially the schools, will lose a lot of revenue. The municipalities can make up their losses from the income tax.

OK Road Bids

SOUTHWEST -- Three bids for projects near Lemont, Bolingbrook and Romeoville have been accepted by the Illinois Division of Highways. They were among bids totaling $36 million for highway construction and related work in the second of eight scheduled lettings this year.

Krug Excavating Co. of Chicago has bid $1,354,537 for intersection paving three miles east of Lemont. To be upgraded are 0.85 of a mile of Rt. 83 and Sag-Lemont Rd.

In Will County installation of a highway lighting system at the intersection of I-55 with Rt. 53 near Bolingbrook was awarded to the J. F. Edwards Construction Co. of Geneseo for $56,885.

E. H. Swenson and Sons Inc. of Joliet bid $496,596 for 0.37 miles of concrete surface and base course at the intersection of Rt. 53 and Naperville Rd., and concrete base course on relocated Naperville Rd. from the intersection of Rt. 53 westerly in Romeoville.

Mokena To Be Midwest Center Of Needle Firm

MOKENA -- Mokena is to have a new light industry. C.J. Bates & Sons, of Hartford, Conn., manufacturers of needles for the sewing trade, has purchased the 20-acres left of the Abbe farm on School house Rd. and is to establish a warehouse and office there to serve the midwest.

This information was forthcoming at a meeting of the Mokena Plan Commission last Thursday night. The commission gave its approval to the plans. The property is already zoned for light industry on the Mokena master plan.

The next step will be for the village to annex the property and this will pose no difficulty, according to Mayor Will Tuttle, and sewer and water service will be immediately available.

The warehouse and office will represent an investment of between $150,000 and $175,000, it was reported. The office will have an architectural front and a parking lot will be established. The buildings will contain 10,000 square feet. At the beginning approximately 25 persons will be employed, it was reported.

The company does not make needles for home use but to serve factories and plants that engage in various types of sewing on a variety of materials.

The plan commission also gave its approval to the Owen Farm Land Trust plans for development of 226 acres southwest of Mokena. The matter will go to the Mokena zoning board of appeals at its meeting April 1.

The village board has indicated that it is prepared to enter into a pre-annexation agreement with the individuals in the project, Marion Owen, U.S. 30, and James Clarge, of Lockport, village planner for Mokena.

The Mokena zoning code does not contain any provisions for a unit planned development, which is what this Owen project is to be. Mayor Tuttle said that the village is preparing to adopt such a provision, probably following that of the county zoning ordinance. Meantime the various points can be taken up in the pre-annexation agreement.

The Owen Farm Land Trust covers land north and south of U.S. 30, from the New York Central tracks on the south to within a short distance of Brightwood. The east line is about half a mile west of Wolf Rd.

It is probably that an annexation ordinance will be prepared by the time the village board meets April 14. It is possible that it would be adopted at that meeting, it was said, or at the meeting April 28.

The developers are planning for commercial and light industry along the railroad at the south end. They also plan a man-made lake south of U.S. 30. Single family homes, townhouses, garden apartments and apartments are planned.

Need Is 'Urgent'

LEMONT -- The "urgent need" to acquaint voters with candidates for the grammar and high school boards of education will be answered. The time is next Tuesday, Mar. 31, when the Lemont Round Table Council meets at the Central School all purpose room at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted with the assistance of the PTA.

All candidates have been invited to attend so they can introduce themselves to the community and present their views and qualifications.

After each candidate speaks for five minutes, the audience will be able to question them. Michael Galati of the high school English department will be moderator.

Candidates for the three full-term three-year seats on the District 113 elementary school board are David Garvey, Ron Bromberek, Richard Petofske, Joe Houdek, Donald Zinngarbe and Patrick Polk. Candidates for the two, two-year unexpired terms are Richard Nona, Charles Wood, John Moncek and Dennis Lazar.

Candidates for the District 210 high school board for the two, three-year terms which are open are Emil Domagolski and Reynold Jacobson. Running for a one-year unexpired term is Joseph Forzley.

The teachers of District 205 refuse to be a party to the destruction of education in this district. The Board has, without proper reasons, delayed announcing specific plans, but all of what they have revealed is educationally disastrous.

We cannot support measures which will —

Make it harder for our graduates to get jobs, enter technical and vocational schools, and to be accepted by colleges.

Deprive students of elective courses in the fields of social studies, English, art, industrial education, home economics, business, agriculture, etc.

Effectively kill the band and chorus programs.

Abandon those students who need special help.

Destroy effective education by crowding too many students into each class.

Increase the drop out rate.

Reduce the climate of intellectual inquiry.

Deprive the students of new and appropriate learning materials.

Greatly reduce the opportunity for social interaction among students.

Risk losing accreditation of the District.

The students have a right to be educated, not just kept off the streets.
They have a right to a REAL education.

WE TEACHERS HAVE A RESPONSIBILITY TO PROVIDE DECENT EDUCATION.
THE STUDENTS AND THE COMMUNITY DESERVE NO LESS.

Fluorocarbons May Help Clean Lungs

Copyright 1970
World Book Science Service
Fluorocarbons -- commonly used for nonstick coatings on cooking utensils, as aerosol propellants, and as freon coolants -- are now showing a potential for saving human lives.

These oily, non-toxic, clear fluids have the unusual property of holding large quantities of oxygen -- 20 times as much as water, twice as much as human red blood

What's New In Medicine

BY BETTY JOHN

corpuscles. These have the added advantage of dissolving oxygen instead of binding it to molecules as red blood cells do.

Dr. Leland C. Clark, a biochemistry professor at the University of Cincinnati, has demonstrated that animals could continue breathing when he filled their lungs with such oxygenated fluids. He has also maintained rat and dog heart action by flooding the organ with pure fluorocarbon liquids, thus suggesting their possible use as "artificial blood."

Dr. Jerome H. Modell of the University of Florida has been using fluorocarbons for washing out the lungs of experimental animals, and sees the technique as applicable to humans with cystic fibrosis and asthma. Current methods of washing, or lavage, with water solutions have proved dangerous, including the possibility of drowning the patient. Dr. Modell hopes the fluorocarbons will work more effectively and less hazardously in removing mucous secretions by bringing more oxygen more quickly into the lungs.

Though fluorocarbons are still in the experimental stage, Dr. Modell believes they can be used clinically in an emergency where other measures take too long. Fluorocarbons might save a person from choking to death on foreign objects or on mucous plugs, he says.

BARBECUE DANGER - Dr. Richard A. Martin of Camarillo, Calif., warns that "odorless, tasteless" lighting fluids for charcoal barbecues are still hazardous. Parents can no longer detect when a child has swallowed or inhaled some of the liquid, he says. Even a few drops can bring painful death.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE -- A survey by the University of Michigan Heart Association indicates that high blood pressure afflicts twice as many black women as white women and a third more black men than white men.

CELL FIGHTERS -- Dr. Edmund Klein of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., is experimenting with using white cells from a patient whose skin cancer has been successfully treated to attack and destroy skin cancer cells in another patient.

Many Eskimos still use Kayaks for fishing and to hunt for seal and walrus in open arctic waters. A Kayak is a light canoe made of sealskins stretched over a frame of bone or wood. Kayaks are as fast as modern racing shells, and are even more seaworthy. The deck top is covered with skin, except for a round cockpit near the middle.

How To Leave Weather Trail

Copyright, 1970
World Book Science Service
Scientists agree that one of the major sources of pollution in this country is the automobile. And recently cars have been blamed for affecting our weather.

Automobile exhaust fumes contain billions of tiny specks. Each speck is called a "freezing nucleus"; more than one are called "freezing nuclei". Water vapor can collect around the nuclei to form raindrops, or even hailstones. This process can be called a "seeding effect," much like the cloud seeding done by scientists trying to make rain for dry regions.

In order for the freezing nuclei to work, the air must contain iodine. Iodine crystals are what people drop into clouds to cause precipitation. So if iodine is already present, chances are that a large volume of car exhaust fumes will help determine whether or not it rains.

On freezing days, the nuclei can help hailstones to form. An experiment proved this. Gasoline fumes were passed over a liquid containing iodine. The fumes picked up some iodine and then traveled into a very cold chamber. In less than two minutes, ice crystals formed on the walls of the chamber. If you replaced the chamber with a nice, moist cloud, you can see what could happen: you'd have a hailstorm!

Imagine a science-fiction detective movie. The hero detective, in his atom-powered car, must track down the foreign spy. The spy has an ordinary, gasoline-powered car. It's a freezing cold day, and the spy has a big head-start. But the detective is smart. He knows that there is iodine in the air, and that the spy's gasoline fumes are seeding the atmosphere with freezing nuclei. So, all the detective has to do is follow the trail of tiny hailstones that the spy leaves behind. James Bond, you've done it again!

Solve the crossword puzzle and rearrange the circled letters to learn what kind of scientists studies hail and other weather.

ANSWERS: Down: fumes, weather, iodine, seeding, crystals. Across: nucleus, stones, hail raindrops.

SOLUTION: Meteorologist.

Shipped As Fragile

We are pleased to see that a major insurance company has invited the automobile makers to put their money where their mouths are, if one may be permitted use of this inelegant phrase.

For a long time we have read and been told that today's automobiles are so superior to those built years ago when there was some thickness to the body steel, and this with the iron used in engines, and the steel frame, added weight and a greater feeling of security to the driver and passengers.

It is true that yesterday's cars were not so fast and of low horsepower. But except for the professionals who make a living by risking their lives as racers, who needs all those horses?

A few years ago a fellow named Ralph Nader reaped a lot of publicity, and no doubt quite a few dollars, when he rose up as the champion of the public and persuaded congress to pass laws to make the auto maker's put various gadgets on cars in the name of safety.

Now if there was some way the auto-makers could build the drivers and equip them with gadgets that would make them drive sanely and safely they could lick the problem. Of course, even our super engineers and designers haven't been able to build drivers yet, but until they can they could really help by cutting down the horsepower.

The auto makers would be doing a tremendous lot of good if they stopped their horsepower race and devoted real and honest attention to building cars that would subtract from, instead of add to, our air pollution problem.

Getting back to the point we made when first mounting our soapbox -- we quote from the financial section of a metropolitan paper published last week. It stated that Allstate Insurance company made an official announcement that it would give a 20 per cent discount on collision coverage for cars that can take front or rear impacts of up to five -- count 'em f - i - v - e -- miles an hour without damage.

Automobile insurance rates have been in orbit for several years now and the companies contend that even with the high premiums they are getting it is quite a rat race because of the high cost of repairs -- labor and parts. Labor and parts -- they kill you. Collision insurance premiums kill you too. They are way up there too, and here is an insurance outfit that will cut your premium 20 per cent if your car can take an impact of up to five miles an hour without damage.

According to the statistics there isn't a car built today that can take such a tap. It is stated that recent tests show that 1969 model cars suffered damage averaging $200 when crashed at a speed of up to five miles an hour. Double that speed to 10 miles an hour. What price damage at that speed? Up to $650, according to the tests.

"We hope," said the insurance company's chairman, "our move will encourage automobile manufacturers to design more substantial, less delicate cars by offering this significant insurance savings."

"We believe customers will show a preference for such cars and are certainly ready and eager for a reduction in their automobile insurance costs."

He went on to say that if the automakers really applied their skills to the problem collision insurance costs probably could be cut in half.

Those paper - or maybe its tinfoil - bumpers and stove pipe bodies won't stand much of a jar and an occupant is lucky to escape with his life after a collision. It will be interesting to see if any automobile company can come up with a car that would earn the premium discount offered by the insurance people.

School district elections are coming up next month and the various boards of education will soon have new members in their ranks.

No matter the number of vacancies to be filled by election, each post must be considered pivotal to that particular school district. The influence of even one man during his three years in office can color the complexion of the district and the children it educates in brilliant hues or disappointing drabness.

Members of boards of education are charged with providing an equal education for all persons from six to 21 years of age for 176 days of the year.

Within that framework, board members must provide the revenue, the rules, and visit to see orders are being carried out. They must hire and pay the persons to teach.

It doesn't stop there.

Board members must also outline what will be studied, report to the county superintendents of public instruction and make sure the kids have physical examinations.

As the school population increases, the time comes to select land and then work for bond issue passage and site approval from the voter so a new schoolhouse will rise, probably in time to be overcrowded when the doors open.

The board also hires a superintendent who is expected to give guidance to the board and conduct daily operations and implement policy.

But, there are new dimensions being drawn for those who take the chore upon themselves, according to Robert E. Jamieson, an educator and immediate past president of the Illinois Association of School Boards. Today, there are more things to worry about than the statutory obligations of the position.

"There is no question that the schools of this nation are the battlegrounds for social changes taking place in America," said Jamieson recently before about 200 area suburban administrators and board of education members.

"Many of you are reeling under the responsibility for effecting a social revolution which, by yourselves, you are powerless either to accomplish or resist," Jamieson told the group.

"Daily you face pressures which include both the traditional ones of financial sup-

"Lady, you got the wrong weather man.

I make mistakes, not bombs."

New Dimensions In Education

port and determination of educational goals and objectives, and now the newer ones of student unrest, civil rights and teacher malcontent."

In the face of these new pressures, the problem of administration and of board recruitment is crucial, Jamieson said. "Anyone who voluntarily runs for a school board or allows himself to become a superintendent in this decade may be one of the tragic heroes who sacrifices his all for a cause he loves."

Pointing to the challenge, Jamieson continued: "Yet, there has never been a greater need for a selfless citizen who are willing to assume the burden of decision-making on matters of public good."

"The quality of any society depends on the caliber of the people who assume public roles and responsibilities at the local level. And what is increasingly more difficult to agree upon is the definition of those public goals toward which all of us in this room should be working."

"If you want local control of your schools and not abdication of responsibility, your first priority in local education is to solicit and recruit board members who are confident, dedicated and, above all, resolute," he continued.

"Recruitment becomes much more crucial because so many board members are dropping out in the face of lack of unified support. The failure of the community to arrive at common educational goals forces boards to fight a battle without the arms to win and to face inevitable retreat."

Ours is a complicated society, Jamieson said, and extremists on the right and the left work with purposeful enthusiasm that deepens our suspicion and fear of one another and that loosens the bonds that hold society together.

"Active agnostics defend their individual rights under the first amendment to the Constitution. They challenge prayer, flag salutes, religious oriented school holidays, locker searches, rules for prohibiting underground newspapers that restrict rights."

"Meanwhile, their active political counterparts on the right and some conservatives are just as adamant. They want more flags, more God, no gun control, no sex education and view the position of their opposites as part of the Communist plot."

"In addition," Jamieson went on, "much of our business community, burdened by heavy taxes, is saying to us that we cannot continue to increase the cost of education in a general economic climate which is doing the exact opposite."

"Taxpayers are hard put to make their federal and state income taxes, their real and personal property tax payments and many have no difficulty in rationalizing their feelings of resentment."

Pointing out that 44 per cent of the families have no children under 18 years of age and that 31 per cent of the adult population over 25 years of age left school at the end of the 8th grade or before, Jamieson said:

"Many, but certainly not all of these groups, believe that schools are wasting money. Essentially, these groups are not about to pay more taxes to be inefficiently used to provide an education they don't understand for children they haven't got and probably don't like anyway."

"The net result is that you volunteered your leadership to an enterprise which is faced with incredible problems to solve, which is not sure of its basic function in society, whose leadership is leaving in droves, which is in the midst of a mass labor and management confrontation with those they employ, which has an unbelievable public relations dilemma and which apparently is bankrupt. You don't need a speaker. You need a messiah."

Funds Go To New Bank

By LOUISE SCHALLER

ROMEONVILLE — William Meyers, treasurer, requested permission of the Romeonville board of trustees to transfer bank funds from two local banks and deposit them in the First Bank of Hampton Park.

Permission was granted, and Meyers told the board the transfer would take place in about six weeks, to allow time for all checks to clear the banks on which they were written.

At the March 18 meeting, funds from the office of Sam Paul were reported to be $855.44. Motor Fuel Tax money for February was reported to be $8,624.19.

The question of barricading Spangler Drive, which is adjacent to the new bank was raised by Jerry Capps, trustee. Capps questioned the reasons for failure to comply with the order issued. Following a discussion, a decision was made to eliminate the barricade, and to put up one-way signs.

Trustee William Bessett said he thought the signs should be raised and urged that the question of the legality not be investigated. He said if there were any objectors, they should pay for the cost of any legal fees.

Bids for sidewalk work will be opened at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, April 15, in the Village Hall.

The next board meeting is scheduled for April 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Seek School Board Posts

MOKENA -- Four candidates have filed for the three places to be filled on the Mokena Grade School board in the school election April 11.

Two of them are incumbents, Charles Burkhardt, who is completing his first three year term, and Fred W. Guendling. Guendling was appointed to the board about a year ago to fill an unexpired term and this spring his is running for election.

Clyde Bond, 103 Greenview, and Norman Patterson, 11117 Revere Rd., are the other two candidates.

James Tilsy, whose term expires this spring, is not seeking re-election. He is assistant supervisor of Frankfort Township and is also an officer in the Will County Farm Bureau, so any extra time he has after farming is fairly well taken up, he pointed out.

Burkhardt, now seeking a second term, and his brother William, operate a contracting firm. He and his wife, Anne, have three children, James, who is a student at Bradley University, Dennis and Carol, both students at Lincoln-Way High School.

Guendling, and his brother Donald, are also contractors. He resides at 19904 Center st. He and his wife, Ardith, have four children, Frederick and Jeffrey, in Willowcrest School; Brenda, who attends kindergarten, and 3-year-old Carrie.

Clyde Bond is employed by the Gallagher Asphalt Co., at Thornton. He is active in the Mokena Lions. He and his wife, Charlene, have five children, Lorraine, a sophomore at Lincoln-Way; Michael, 8th grade; Brad, 7th grade; Jo Lynn, third grade, and Danny, second grade.

Patterson, who has been a resident of Mokena for the past 14 years is employed at Uniroyal as a quality control supervisor. He and his wife, Rita, have six children; Ray is a freshman at Lincoln-Way; William 8th grade; John, 7th grade, and Norman, 5th grade, at Willowcrest; Paul, 2d grade, and 4-year-old Catherine.

To Mark Easter In New Church

LEMONT -- The Festival Services of Easter will be celebrated by the Lemont United Methodists for the first time in their new facilities at 24 West Custer St. Just more than a month ago, the new church building there was used for the first time.

The events will include: A Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. sponsored by the United Methodist Youth Fellowship. Lauren Lind will be worship leader and John Benda will preach the sermon.

This will be a contemporary service with religious folk-rock music featuring a group of musicians called "Patty, Joe, Dave and Ende" (Patty Bobber of Riverside, Joe Rada of Hinsbrook, Dave Zahara of Hinsdale, and Bruce Ende-cavage of Lemont). Among the musical numbers will be an original piece written by this group entitled "The Gift of Knowledge."

At 7:30 a breakfast will be served by the UMYF for those who have attended the Sunrise Service or those coming to a later service.

At 8:30 and 10:45 identical traditional Festive Easter Worship services will be celebrated. Special music will include the Senior Choir under the direction of Alderman Dystrup, soloist Miss Ann Farrell, and the Junior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Howard Svoboda and Mrs.

Owen Cluts. The Rev. Don C. Leo, pastor of the church, will bring the Easter message.

The church school will be held at 9:30 with classes for all ages, nursery through adults. The public is invited to share in the glory and majesty of Easter Sunday, "Rev. Leo said.

HISTORICAL SIDELIGHT

Remember Man, Building

Arthur Swanson

LEMONT -- It was in the year 1891 that John G. Swanson and his wife moved from Singer Ave. to 109 Illinois St. In that year a son was born on Dec. 17 who was christened Arthur William Swanson.

Not many persons in this community can have the experience of being born, raised and died in the same house after a period of 77 years.

During the 77 years he left the home for purposes of work but always returned after shorter or longer periods of time. His first leaving was when he became a telegrapher for the A.T.-S.F. R.R. at Chillicothe, Ill., in the first decade of this century.

In 1912 he moved to Chicago but came home for the weekends. In 1917 he entered military service in the 113th Infantry, 29th Division, went overseas and was at Metz when the armistice was signed. He was discharged and was employed locally.

In the late 20's he decided to become an electrician taking a course with the Coyne Electrical School. After graduating he setup his own shop in Lemont and remained at his profession until adverse health forced his retirement.

His social interest was attending meetings of the American Legion of which he was a charter member.

The house where he was born and where he associated with his younger brother has been sold. It is another landmark that has seen depressions.

How long will this building remain standing? Only time will tell.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS throughout the area conducted classes Mar. 1, on a Sunday, to show activities at the schools. Catholic schools state-wide did the same on that day to dramatize the role of the privately support schools and make a plea for financial assistance from the state. The students above are from St. Cyril and Methodius School, Lemont. Sister Louise Marie is principal, and students are from Sister Mary Marcella's seventh grade class. Parents saw a variety of classes, and experiments in the school's new science lab. (GRAPHIC Photo)

Earth Science Course At L-W Provides Whys

NEW LENOX — Thousands of years of geological change in a river bed occurred in one hour and an undersea canyon shifted and sent sediment crashing to the ocean floor. At Lincoln-Way High School in New Lenox such world-scale events are reproduced and studied in a new earth science course taught in the ninth grade.

What happens to a meandering stream as it cuts its way through time and space? A miniaturized and accelerated world in a stream table shows the effects of one of the agents of erosion.

Water trickles through a sand stream table and allows the student to witness the formation of a river delta, the erosion of mountains or the devastation caused by a flood.

The course is part of a nationally-devised earth science curriculum that emphasizes learning by active participation in classroom and laboratory experiences. The earth science course allows students to study about their world environment and to gain a basis for later science study.

Sometimes the students leave the classrooms frustrated that a laboratory experiment did not produce predicted and accepted results, but return the next day wondering why.

Realizing how scientists came to the conclusions and theories of modern science is part of not being educationally spoon-fed in this earth science course.

The earth science course is part of the total science curriculum at Lincoln-Way which includes biology, chemistry and physics.

Mayor Warning read a communication from the Frankfort Plan Commission opposing use of acreage owned by the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway for the industrial complex proposed by the Arquilla Corporation.

The property is now zoned for light industry and the plan commission is opposed to classifying it for special use, as requested.

The commission's report states that the prevailing wind direction is from the southwest and "any noise, gas, smoke, dust or any other such elements" resulting from the proposed use of the property would be detrimental to the best interests of the residents of the village, and be in violation of the

Bid At Bromberek

LEMONT -- The eight bids for the construction of the multi - purpose room at Bromberek School were opened and they ranged from $101,000 to $116,000.

District 65 School Board is now considering the lowest bid under advisement with the school architect.

Final approval will take place by the end of March and, hopefully, construction will start in April as originally planned, according to Edward Vician, superintendent.

state's air pollution law.

The commission concluded by stating that the detrimental effects of the proposed project would outweigh any financial gain that the village might obtain through real estate or sales taxes.

According to representatives of the industrial complex it was estimated the village would receive approximately $110,000 a year in sales taxes.

In other business before the board it was brought out that the present water storage tank was leaking and arrangements will be made to have it repaired. It was also brought out that the village will have to erect a second and larger storage tank to provide an ample reserve of water.

Trustee Wilbert Klier produced figures from Village Engineer Robert Hamilton estimating the cost of extending sewers to U. S. 45 and Nebraska would be approximately $24,500 for a 10-inch line, $22,500 for an 8-inch line.

James Glung, of the Frankfort park board, appeared to ask the situation of one and a third acres promised to the village by A.H. Krusemark from a subdivision he is planning. The village will turn the gift over to the park board. Mayor Warning asked Village Attorney August Santoro to write Krusemark on the matter.

William Bachochin, of the Frankfort department, had the top grade in a police instruction school recently concluded at Peotone.

Mother Sets Pattern

SOUTHWEST -- Since children begin to form habits at a very early age, it's up to mother to set the pattern she wants followed.

Bea Bagby, Will County Extension Adviser, emphasizes the importance of helping baby learn there's a time and place for everything. How and when crib, playpen, and highchair are used can play a vital role in establishing behavior patterns.

If the crib is used as a playpen as well as a bed, baby won't be sure whether he is expected to amuse himself or go to sleep. But if put into the crib only for sleeping, he forms the habit of dropping off to sleep without much fuss.

If the highchair is both a playpen and a dining table, he doesn't learn to associate the chair with mealtime. In fact, he may become irritable and prefer a toy to his spinach. Only when each of his possessions has a special purpose, does baby learn what mother expects of him.

By learning to expect some treat after his bath, such as freedom to crawl, baby learns to look forward with pleasure to both.

Mrs. Bagby adds that rigid rules are no longer recommended for raising a healthy and happy baby. But a certain amount of regularity contributes to his sense of security and also makes life easier for mother.

Mint Oil Aids In Burping

SOUTHWEST -- Hail the lowly oil of peppermint, known to the ancient Greeks and just rousing endorsed by the August British Medical Journal for its "swift and universal action" in producing burps.

Known formally as carminatives, such volatile oils as peppermint, cardamom, dill, ginger, cinnamon and cloves are used for bawling infants and "patients complaining of wind," as well as in liqueurs and as seasonings.

Carminatives, usually sold in alcoholic solutions (tinctures), are praised as "useful, pleasant and (apparently) without side-effects," producing "an almost immediate sensation of warmth" in the upper reaches of the abdomen followed within a few minutes by a well-rounded easeful belch.

Alas, carminatives also appear in onions and garlic, leading to the suspicion that they may produce heartburn.

What's so hot about an Electric Range?

It's cool.

Any cook knows that heat belongs in the oven, not in the kitchen. And the electric oven knows how to keep it there. Because only an electric oven is insulated on all six sides. So the heat stays inside... roasts come out juicier, cakes moister... and your kitchen stays cool. You do too.

What's more, the electric oven bakes faster. Because it's insulated on all six sides, less pre-heating is needed. Even the surface units keep your kitchen cool, because heat is transferred directly into the pot and not out into the air. The handle stays cool... and so does the cook.

Time to replace the range at your house? Then take a look at the only one that knows how to keep its cool. The electric range.

Camping Fees Higher June 1

SOUTHWEST — Camping fees in Illinois state parks will be increased June 1 to provide some of the cost of facilities demanded by today's campers, Director William L. Rutherford of the state Department of Conservation has announced.

He said campers will be charged $1.50 a night for unimproved sites that now cost $1. The charge for sites that now carry a $1.50 fee will be $3 a night.

Explaining the necessity for the increased fees, Rutherford said:

"An individual site, that is, the gravel pad, the road to it, the electrical hookups, waterlines and other refinements that most campers want today cost at least $1,000 to install. A project involving the construction of 100 camping units at a park will cost more than $100,000 when the actual campground and other facilities are completed.

"Recently, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie released about $2,500,000 to provide modern toilet facilities, electrical hookups, better roads and more campsites at 18 parks," Rutherford said. "This work will be completed by June 15. However, this is just a start. We plan to make more improvements at other parks as funds become available.

"A tent camper may choose a site without a gravel parking pad. However, trailers, pickup campers and tent trailers must use a site with a gravel pad," Rutherford explained. "The camper who only needs a shady spot where he can pitch his tent is now in the minority," Rutherford said. "Today most campers want gravel parking pads, showers, flush toilets and electricity when they rough it.

"A few figures collected by the division of parks and memorials shows the obvious trend," Rutherford said. "Between 1962 and 1968, the number of tents pitched on Illinois state parks increased from 37,654 to 44,050. But the number of camper trailers, pickup campers and tent trailers increased from 23,044 to 115,714.

"Camping traffic is heavy at our state parks," Rutherford said. "A study by the National Conference on State Parks in 1968 showed that Illinois ranked 14th among the 50 states in the number of campers at our state parks.

"Funds obtained from camping fees are deposited in the State Park Fund and must be allocated to improve facilities at our state parks," Rutherford concluded.

Deer Weight 254

SOUTHWEST — A buck weighing 254 pounds field dressed was the largest submitted in the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs annual Big Deer Contest, Jim Akers, vice president of the federation has announced.

The Big Deer Contest is sponsored by the sportsmen's clubs in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Lyman H. Wise of Downs bagged the buck in Marshall County. The live weight of the animal would be about 320 pounds.

The biggest doe of the contest was taken by Dr. Gene Noble, Paxton. The doe, entered in the senior division, weighed 150 pounds field dressed or about 189 pounds live weight.

Dick Lawson, 19, Griggsville, bagged a 209-pound buck to win first place in the junior division. The animal weighed would be about 263 pounds on the hoof. Lawson downed the buck near Pittsfield.

Alvin C. Hillyer, a 20-year-old sportsman from Huntville, took the largest doe in the junior division. The field dressed weight of the doe was 126 pounds. The live weight was estimated to be about 158 pounds. Hillyer downed the doe near Camden.

"The contest is divided into senior and junior divisions," Akers said. "Hunters under 21 enter their kills in the junior division. Hunters over 21 years of age compete in the senior division."

According to conservation department records, the biggest whitetail bagged in Illinois, one weighing 371 pounds, was taken in Wayne County in 1968.

Plans Annual Banquet

SOUTHWEST — St. Charles Borromeo Seminary has begun plans for its fifth annual Alter Christus Banquet, to be held April 4 and 5 at the seminary on Airport Road and Route 53.

The funds raised by these dinners will be used to offset the seminary's rapidly expanding needs and to reduce the operating deficit, according to Rev. Roger Kaffer, rector and principal.

The executive committee, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirincich, also includes Dr. and Mrs. Leon Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gregoire, Mr. and Mrs. George Tapella, Mr. and Mrs. George Vosicky, Father Kaffer and Rev. Walter Mayer, procurator and dean of men in the college department.

The students serving on the committee are Timothy Gardner, president of the General Assembly, and Steve Paprocki, senior president of the High School Council. Also on the executive committee is Quirion Tritillo, manager of the seminary cafeteria.

Festivities at the $30 a plate benefit will begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails. Dinner, at 7 p.m., will be served by the seminarians, who will also furnish entertainment.

Reservations for the Wild West style dinner may be obtained from George Tapella, 713 Tana Dr., Joliet, 725-1336, or by calling the seminary, 838-8100.

Speaks April 2

SOUTHWEST — Senator Ralph Tyler Smith will be the featured speaker at the 14th Annual Ladies' Night dinner meeting of the Will-Grundy Manufacturers' Association on Thursday, April 2 in the Chantilly Room of D'Amico's 214 in Joliet.

Besides the dinner and guest speaker, the meeting will also feature an evening of outstanding entertainment.

tion that will be offered in the district is at their discretion, voiced through their action at the polls.

He told the teachers that if their concern was purely an educational one, that he would agree that education would suffer. He suggested that the teachers should help the board. "Why don't you be part of the solution instead of stirring the pot?" He also recommended that they "drop their creative curtain and look to reality."

Polley questioned the board on the withholding of salaries for winter co-curricular assignments. Brill said they were tied up because of a technicality. He told Polley that the teacher's contracts were not with the superintendent, but with the board of education.

Polley told the board that when the basketball coach took his assignment, he undoubtedly felt he had done his job and should be paid. Board member Joan Straka said they couldn't pay him, "because we don't know who he is." She went on to explain that the superintendent had not submitted an approved list. Brill added that taxpayer's money cannot be spent unless the board is presented with a list of co-curricular assignments for their approval.

Board member Steve Platko said this matter would definitely be cleared up by the next board meeting (ed. note: Thursday, March 26) and that he would personally try to implement this.

Platko went on to say that in the board's judgement, it was better to run the school on a cutback basis, than to run full steam ahead until they ran out of money. He said the board has been accused of "foot-dragging" and that to be frank, he would have to say they really hadn't done much.

However, he added the board feels it is working as quickly as possible and that they want to provide the best possible education with the present staff or less.

In response to a question as to whether there was any truth to the rumor that all the non-tenure teachers would be dismissed, to be possibly rehired as they were needed, Brill said it had not been discussed but that it was a possibility.

Brill added that the board has a legal obligation to tell non-tenure teachers if they will not be rehired 60 days before school is dismissed. When asked if this decision would be reached by the next board meeting, he said if it wasn't the board would call a special meeting before the end of the month.

Board member Tom Wilson said he had the impression the teachers wanted a full program until the district ran out of money. The teachers applauded, and when Wilson asked if they were willing to face the fact that if the school closed, they wouldn't be paid, they continued to applaud.

Wilson contended that school closings do not guarantee the passage of referendums. He also said that Lockport's publicity in the past has been adverse, and this would not improve it.

A discussion regarding administrators calling in department heads on Thursday to discuss possible cutbacks in their departments provoked a few heated words between board member Joan Straka and principals Bill Rutter of Lockport West and Bill Prynne of Lockport Central.

The principals said they were under the impression that they were supposed to help devise ways to cut a large proportion from the budget, and Mrs. Straka questioned their right to do this. Mrs. Straka asked if similar proceedings had been conducted at East High, and was told by Ray Sheffield, assistant principal that they had.

When she asked to what purpose, Sheffield answered, "Communication." Mrs. Straka voiced her disapproval, calling them "terror tactics."

At the conclusion of the meeting, Marie Lawrence, a home economics teacher, commented that despite Wilson's remark that Lockport had received some adverse publicity, she felt the district had received excellent publicity about their basketball team, "coached by what's-his-name."

Harold Scholle, District 205's superintendent, told the Southwest Graphic Friday the technicality involved in paying salaries for winter co-curricular assignments is based on a number of things.

One is that the district has changed the manner in which teachers are paid; another is that prior to the most recent teachers' contract, teachers received credit for experience outside the district; and that a list had been presented to the board, but that it contained some errors, due to some of these changes.

Scholle also said that the teacher's contracts say that the superintendent will designate and be the one to approve the assignments, while the board manual states that lists must be presented for board approval because they represent expenditures. He said the lists will be presented at Thursday's board meeting.

and there aren't that many available, according to observers.

While he was a witness Arquilla did say, in answer to a question by Attorney Wright, that there were two other sites the company was considering, one three miles from Frankfort and the other about five miles from Frankfort.

One of these sites is said to be on U.S. 45 east of Mokena, and officials there are reported to be interested in getting the complex located there. The other site is at 104th and 153d in Orland Township.

cluded their testimony a vote was taken by the zoning board of appeals. Five voted against granting the zoning change: Glen Schroeder, James Walker, Charles McManimen, Bruce Wells and William Batson. The two who voted for it were Wayne Johnson, the board chairman, and Norman Hossbach.

This is expected to end the matter, as far as Frankfort is concerned. The override the decision of the zoning board would take six votes on the village board

Not everyone keeps bankers' hours

Most banks think that people have nothing to do all day except go to the bank.

So they open late and close early.

And expect you to fit your busy schedule into their short one.

Well, at First National Bank of Lockport, we try to make banking a little more convenient. That's why we're going to be open 58 hours each week.

Now it's going to be easier for you to get your banking done if you're not a banker.

Not everyone keeps bankers hours. You certainly don't. So, neither do we.

New hours effective Monday, March 16, 1970
